Have you been permanently disabled/injured as a direct result of a Troubles related incident?

If you were, you may be eligible to apply to the Troubles Permanent Disablement Payment Scheme.

ABOUT THE SCHEME

The Troubles Permanent Disablement Payment Scheme is administered by the Victims' Payments Board. It seeks to acknowledge the harm suffered by those permanently injured in the Troubles and promote reconciliation between people in connection with Northern Ireland's troubled past.

It recognises the implications of living with a permanent disablement including the financial impact on individuals and their families.

The Scheme provides payments to those who currently suffer from permanent disablement (either physical or psychological) as a result of an injury caused, through no fault of their own, in an incident related to the NI Troubles.

You continue to suffer from permanent physical or psychological injury (or both) as a result of a Troubles-related incident.

The Troubles-related incident must have:

- occurred in the United Kingdom (UK), or anywhere in Europe.
- taken place on or after 1 January 1966, But before 12 April 2010.

The Victims Payments Board may apply discretion if the incident took place outside of these dates.

An injury is considered to be caused by a Troubles-related incident if a person was:

- present at a Troubles-related incident or;
- present in the immediate aftermath of a Troubles-related incident in which a loved one died or suffered an injury or;
- responding, in the course of employment, to a Troubles-related incident, in which the person reasonably believed a loved one had died or suffered significant injury.

CAN AN APPLICATION BE MADE ON BEHALF OF SOMEONE WHO HAS DIED?

Yes, a posthumous application can be made on behalf of someone who has died in some circumstances. If you were the spouse, civil partner, co-habiting partner or carer of an individual who suffered permanent disablement as a result of the Troubles and who has since passed away, you may submit an application on their behalf.

WHAT PAYMENTS ARE AVAILABLE UNDER THE SCHEME?

The level of payment will depend on the extent of the permanent disablement. Current payments range from £2,298 to £11,490 per year.

Applications submitted on or before 31st August 2026 may also be entitled to a payment backdated to 23 December 2014.
